

Refugee

Words & Music by Gary Soloman

Have you ever wondered why?
When you're riding out the storm
Felt like a refugee who had just left home

And the owner of your heart
Had just skipped town—the sign
Said it's the wrong way
You've got to turn around

Hold on and open your eyes
Hold on through the day and through the night
Hold on and open your eyes
Hold on through the day and through the night

Found a message in a bottle
Saw madness pass me by
She smiled as I spotted—the reasons
Of when and why

It was written by a young girl
It was signed by Jessie May Come over to my city—and please
Take it away

Hold on and open your eyes
Hold on through the day and through the night
Hold on and open your eyes
Hold on through the day and through the night

Solo Instrumental

So, I picked up my memories
That lay on shifting sands
Broken and shattered
Pieces in my hand

Have you ever had a feeling?
To find a light in the sky
More than words can say
And more than meets the eye

Hold on and open your eyes
Hold on through the day and through the night
Hold on and open your eyes
Hold on through the day and through the night

Hold on and open your eyes
Hold on through the day and through the night
Hold on and open your eyes
Hold on through the day and through the night
