

Sayin' Goodbye to the 70's

Words & Music by Gary Soloman

Sittin' in the back seat of my brother's car
Listen to Joni Mitchell strumming her guitar
Yellow Taxi on the radio

We had hopes and dreams in our hearts but how were we to know
Jimi and Janis took the fast train home
The Beatles said goodbye and left us all alone
John gave us Imagine and Paul's was Yesterday
The band played the last waltz and Dylan's Hurricane

Chorus

We were sayin' goodbye to the seventies
But how were we to know (repeat)

We heard goodbye stranger in the Sand man
Felt like a Super tramp we were on the road again
Into the mystic we drove all night long
On route 66 we sang our favourite songs
Time waits for no one said the Rolling stones
As Eric played Layla and the Eagles took us home

Chorus

Dancin' Queen so fresh in our hearts
Daddy Cool your Eagle Rock and the Crocodile Rocked us hard
John and Yoko lay in that bed all week long
As the message rang out they sang that immortal song
